VOLUME XXXII. NUMBER 7.

IRONTON, MO.
THURSDAY, AUGUST 11, 1898.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Welcome to the Y. P. S. C. Es!

These nights are sleep-inducing.

Services at the M. E. church Sunday morning.

There is no end to the meadow yield this year.

A party of Caledonians took in the Valley scenery last Sunday.

Aug. Riecke had a fine cow killed on the railroad near the old brewery one day last week.

The watermelon business has ceased to be a distinguishing feature of the courthouse square.

Rev. Scuddy, of Tyler, Texas, will be at the De Soto camp meeting, beginning the 18th of August.

For sale, the finest buggy horse, for family use, in Iron county. Will be sold on reasonable terms. Apply to Dr. S. E. Strong.

Dr. Blanks last week purchased Dr. Strong's brick office, and we understand, will remove to Ironton on or about the first of September.

The apple-lover will have to console himself this fall and winter with the imported article. The home yield promises to be scant and poor.

The Rev. G. D. B. Miller of St. Louis will assist in the services of St. Paul's church next Sunday, and will preach at the morning service.

The footbridge across the branch just beyond the railroad bridge needs repairing. The road overseer ought to look after the matter or worse may come of it.

The carding machine, one mile south of Des Arc, has just been newly repaired and is now in good running order. All who want carding done ship your wool to Lovelace & Kimmel, Des Arc, Mo.

Never was the outlook better for a big corn crop. A week or two of hot weather and a shower or two of rain, judiciously intervening, will "make" the largest yield this section has known for years.

If you want to see good and fast horse-shoeing go over and take a look at Granville Shular at work in Hansen's blacksmith shop, south side of courthouse square. He's a "dandy" in time and proficiency.

Mr. F. Weidman believes that he has discovered a cure for blight in pear trees. This, after considerable experimenting and at the expenditure of great patience. He will give his neighbors the benefit of his discovery—for a consideration.

Florence, ten-year-old daughter of Mr. W. A. Fletcher, was thrown from her pony in front of the Register office Tuesday afternoon. The animal stumbled and fell and Miss Florence was pitched over his head, but happily escaped with only a violent shaking-up.

An extremely interesting and novel entertainment called the Florentine Art Gallery will be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's church on Tuesday, the 23d, in the Academy of Music. Further particulars will be announced next week.

Following are the signal service readings at this point for the week ending Aug. 9th, showing the highest and lowest temperature recorded each day: August 3d, 81, 65; 4th, 80, 52; 5th, 85, 52; 6th, 89, 55; 7th, 89, 65; 8th, 80, 68; 9th, 84, 59. Rainfall, 2.31.

W. H. DELANO, Observer.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kelly, Ironton, Mo., on Friday August 5th, 1898, a boy. The reports from mother and child are that they are doing nicely, while the father is just about as happy and proud a man as lives in the Arcadia Valley. The Register tenders its congratulations to the happy household.

Monday night of last week Thompson Blanton took his dogs and went coon-hunting. By midnight he had captured half-a-dozen, and then returned home. He says he is going fishing down on the St. Francis to-day, and after he gets through no one need bother the river for a twelvemonth—either with net or line.

T. W. Barron, St. Louis; L. A. Nichols, De Soto; E. B. Ingram, Middlebrook; J. H. Tucker and T. T. Seitz, Piedmont; R. S. Wilson and L. A. Halley, Poplar Bluff, were the guests of J. L. Brierton at the Arcadia House Sunday. The party made a trip to Graniteville and other places of interest during the day.

Last Saturday's St. Louis papers reported that the Sixth Missouri regiment which has been at Jefferson Barracks for a month, would likely be ordered to the rifle range here with one or two other regiments. The following day the report was denied and information given out that the sixth would at once be sent to Jacksonville, Florida.

Some of the boys about town made last Friday night hideous. They gathered up all the cows carrying bells and drove the patient animals back and forth and all about the premises besieged. With this example of dire vengeance before its mental vision, the Register refrains from speaking its full mind on the subject. The detestable cow-bell is too serious a thing to run up against.

From October 3d, to 8th, for the St. Louis Fair, the St. Louis & I. M. Railway will sell tickets to St. Louis and return at the rate of one lowest first-class, standard, regular fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold October 2d to 7th, inclusive, limited to continuous passage in each direction, with final limit for return of October 10th. W. P. Wemp, agent here, will take pleasure in giving further information if desired.

The fourth watermelon car at this station was unloaded yesterday.

Tuesday morning Newman Farmer, at work in Baldwin's hub factory, in throwing a belt from one pulley to another, was caught in the belt, thrown to the ceiling, over the shaft, and precipitated with violence to the floor. His head and back were bruised and his left arm fractured. The accident was bad enough, but it might have resulted in grave injury. This thought will probably console the victim while he is carrying his arm in a sling.

Mr. Wm. Gross went to the city Tuesday and will probably be absent from town several days. He goes in the interest of his business, one of his main purposes being to obtain the services of a first-class butcher. As he puts it, "none but the best the city can produce" will fill the bill, for he is determined to hereafter furnish only the best of meats to his customers. Mr. G. will also, while in the city, fully rehabilitate his stock of groceries.

The St. Louis Exposition opens September 14th and closes October 29th. For this occasion round trip tickets will be sold by the St. Louis & Iron Mountain Railway under the following conditions: Rate, one fare and one-third for round trip. Tickets are to be sold September 13, 15, 20, 22, 27, 29, October 4, 6, 11, 13, 18, 20, 25, 27, and will be limited for return passage to 5 days from date of sale.

W. P. WEMP, Ticket Agent.

The Kansas City Times has this to say of one of the old-time Ironton boys, and who has not forgotten the place of his early life but visits it frequently: "George W. Hughes, formerly chief dispatcher of three divisions of the International and Great Northern railroad, and one of the best known railroad men in the south, was in Kansas City several days ago shaking hands with the boys. He is now with the Missouri, Kansas and Texas at Smithville, Tex., but it is rumored that he is about to accept an important position on one of the Kansas City lines. The fact that Mr. Hughes is so thoroughly familiar with the situation in the south and his latest visit to Kansas City have started a rumor that he is slated for superintendent of one of the Pittsburgh and Gulf's southern divisions. When with the International and Great Northern he was in a position to know many things that would be of vast benefit to the Port Arthur road, and it would not surprise Kansas City railroad men if Mr. Stillwell should induce the "Pony" to leave his present post for one much better. Mr. Hughes is an old Knight of Pythias, and while here met many of his old lodge friends. Though comparatively a young man, he has reached the top notch in Pythian work."

Wednesday evening of last week a party of six or more from Ironton made a descent upon the peaceful dwelling of Wm. Trauernicht at Middlebrook. In the dark hour of night they descended, armed with pipe, lute and rebeck, and most grievously did they vex and disjoin the erstwhile quietest atmosphere. William did not, as we will have done, turn the honest watchdog loose upon the invaders, but, abiding by the efficacy of the scriptural injunction, "a soft answer turneth away wrath," gave them hearty welcome, took them in and clothed their inner selves with enticing drink, even as he would clothe their outer forms in goodly raiment. Several hours happily passed in the presence of the host and his amiable better-half, when "Home, Sweet Home," gave finis to the happy occasion. Mr. T. for two or three days had not been enjoying his usual exuberant health, but he declared when the departure was taken that he was feeling much better. What brought about this desirable change the reader must determine for himself. Perhaps it was enforced upon the victim of the onslaught that no condition is so bad but that it may be made "worse;" or, again, a counter-irritant may have been the very thing necessary to a bile-disordered system. The Register is willing to leave the question to the discussion of the physicians; but one thing it will and does say, without reservation open or secret, that William and all of his household know how to make glad the hearts of their guests; and, knowing, do.

The Second Annual Convention of the Ninth District of the Missouri Christian Endeavor Union commenced at the Presbyterian church in Ironton, Mo., on last Tuesday afternoon. Under the management of the local Endeavor Society the church is beautifully decorated. The profusion of flowers and evergreens, the tasteful mottoes which appear upon the walls, all attest that Christian work is not incompatible with love of the beautiful. The lower room is fitted up for refreshing the inner man, and must have cost the committee in charge much trouble, for the arrangements are most complete. The music is most enjoyable. The exercises are all that could be desired. Miss Maudie Buford, the lady president of the District, carries on the services in a spiritual and quickening manner. The delegates were nearly all present at the opening of the session Tuesday evening. Rev. Steel's address was cordial and pointed. The response by Rev. F. Z. Moore of Fredericktown was short and reciprocal in cordial Christian spirit. During the evening the singing was his that even Ironton could desire. Not elaborate, we are glad to say, but soul-stirring. The programme was somewhat long but no one seemed to tire as they listened to the earnest, enthusiastic and purpose-giving sermon to young Christians by Rev. J. H. Gaus of St. Louis. The evening was far spent, but many staid to enjoy the reception given in the church basement in honor of the delegates. Wednesday was taken by the forelock. At 5:30 the Methodist church bell rang out an invitation to our people, and many gathered to mingle their prayers and praise for the work of the day. At 9 o'clock Mrs. Carrie Markham, of this place, conducted the devotional services. Mr. G. Withers of Piedmont opened the forenoon with "Why We Are Here." His address was followed by Rev. C. D. Danner of Ironton—topic: "Whom Is This For?" "What Will We Do With It When We Get Home?" was told us by Rev. Moore. Miss Kate Haus of St. Louis, in a splendid speech, told us emphatically "What Christian Endeavorers Can Do." After the devotional services at 1:45, Rev. Watson of Ironton led the subject of Bible Study with a talk on "When to Read the Bible." He was followed by Rev. Gaus of St. Louis with a very instructive, practically helpful presentation of "How to Study the Bible." He used a blackboard, carefully prepared with a practical presentation of a method. A short time given by him to "What Helps to Use" was interesting and beneficial. Mr. Withers of Piedmont took charge of the discussion of Committee Work. Several committees were taken up and their duties elaborately and interestingly discussed. Ironton was not at all misrepresented by our musical talent. The solos by Messdames Buford, and Jones and Messdames Julia Andrews and Rosa Jones, were all splendid. Not operative nor affectations, but good, spiritual music. The following delegates were registered: C. B. Miller, Augusta Conrad, A. E. Conrad, A. O. Conrad, Allience; Miss Brokenshire, Lusher Thomas, Elijah Francis, Boone Terrell; Miss Mamie Quackbush, Cape Girardeau; Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Flemming; Mr. Bart Flemming, Miss Kate Marks; Miss Antonia Sebastian, Farmington; Rev. Moore, Mrs. Dr. Haley, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bloomer, Miss M. B. Gregory, Miss Tillie Stevenson, Miss Olive De Valley, Fredericktown; Guy M. Withers, Piedmont; Kate H. Haus, Judson A. Stanton, Rev. J. H. Gaus, St. Louis; Miss Sarah Young, Misses Minnie and Mary Heitman, Yount.

The Register several weeks since told of the failure of the Citizen's Bank at Lufkin Texas, and the arrest of the cashier, J. W. Craven, in St. Louis, on the charge of forgery. Local interest attaches to the fact because Mr. Craven was one of the organizers of the Iron County Bank here and up to a year ago was cashier of that institution, when he resigned and went to Lufkin to organize the bank there. Mr. Craven, before coming here, made his home in Texas county this State where his father is still in the banking business. The following taken from the Houston (Mo.) Star telling of the particulars of the Lufkin failure, and Mr. Craven's connections therewith, will be of interest to many of our readers: "The failure of the Lufkin, Texas, bank has attracted considerable attention in Texas county, as the proprietor, Walter Craven, was raised here and is known to many of the people, especially the citizens of Lufkin, at which place his parents live. His father, J. A. Craven, being the owner of the Lufkin bank. Last week the elder Craven went to Lufkin to look into his son's affairs, and was accompanied by Attorney Robert Lamar, who has been retained to look after young Craven's interests. Realizing the interest taken in this matter by our people, a Star reporter called on Mr. Lamar and asked for a statement as to the cause of the failure and the probable outcome of the case. In answer to questions the following was elicited: 'I found matters in much better condition than I expected, from what I had read and heard of the matter before reaching there. It was simply a case of honest failure. In the winter and spring the deposits of the bank ran up to over $30,000, and, of course, as is done by all banks, a good portion of this money was loaned out. During the summer months depositors began to withdraw their deposits, until, at the time the bank was forced to close its doors, the deposits only amounted to something over $9,000. The harvest season of the year then being during this time and a little later, being the cotton crop is marketed. Young Craven had his means in a condition where he could not realize ready cash immediately from it. He had rediscounted some of his best paper at Galveston and Kansas City banks, but still deposits kept diminishing, and his past-due paper was not yet due. Realizing that something must be done, he secured from friends in Lufkin some accommodation paper to use until the stringency was passed. He went to some banks in Texas and made an effort to raise the money, but failing, he then went to St. Louis to discount this paper, and while he was there his partner ran out of currency with which to pay checks over the counter, and the bank was forced to close its doors. The people, not knowing the condition of things, jumped at the conclusion that Craven had taken the money and absconded with it, and wired to St. Louis to have him arrested. Judge Mantooth, representing the depositors, and myself went over the assets and liabilities of the bank, and the assets were placed in two classes, gilt edge paper and a list which was called doubtful, though it was thought it could nearly all be collected. The gilt edge paper—not counting the doubtful list—only lacked $1,300 of equaling the liabilities. There was in all about $2,000 in the doubtful list, and from the best information obtainable, I do not think there is any question but that there will be substantial realized from the latter class to make up the $1,300. However, considerable property in addition to the above has been turned over to the creditors, with the understanding that what is left after paying all liabilities is to be returned to Craven and his partner, Mr. Snow. Craven has forged nothing, and was not arrested on any such charge—the complaint, and the only one lodged against him, being for receiving deposits while the bank was in a failing condition, and this was done in the excitement immediately following the bank's failure, and before anything was known of the banks assets. This statement shows that the charge is unfounded.'"

To the Public.
Mr. Editor, please allow me space in your paper to return my heartfelt thanks to one and all for their liberal patronage, and most especially to the white friends who so kindly helped me out in my very difficult undertaking. I thank one and all from my very heart for turning out and helping me, and by so doing it made me able to pay all my debts, and I feel rewarded for my trouble in getting it up. I also return thanks to Pops. Criswell and Jones in helping make my entertainment a success and also the gentlemen who so kindly gave their services in acting as judges for me.

Annapolis News.

There was a traveling preacher here a few days the past week who told a thrilling tale of woe about our sister town, Sabula. A part of his story is corroborated by others. It appears that he had made himself obnoxious to the better element and found himself without any place to go to one night, and the boys noting his predicament, decided to play a practical joke on him, which they did by having one of their number to invite him home with them, telling him at the same time that they lived in the country several miles away. In his desperate strait, however, he accepted the invitation, and they proceeded on their way, the boys enlivening the journey with tales of wild cats and other wild animals. When they had reached a spot lonely enough unearthly sounds smote the ears of our now thoroughly frightened preacher. Imagine his horror, then, when the light was put out and he found himself forsaken in a lonely wood! After praying and yelling awhile, the boys say he started for Sabula on the run, the iron soles on his shoes making the fire fly at every step. Annapolis used to bear the name of having the hardest set of boys on the Creek, but we now cheerfully yield the palm to Sabula.

Lightning struck the house of old Mrs. Harmon Tuesday night of last week, but fortunately no damage was done, and no one was hurt.

Miss Bertha Bollinger, of Sabula, is in town to-day.

Miss Annie Buford, who has been on a visit to her brother, the doctor, returns home to-day.

Chas. Abrams and Miss Boatright were married to-day. We wish the happy young people all the happiness accompanying wedded life.

The wife of Wm. Robinson died on Thursday of last week, leaving a large family to mourn her loss. Four of the family are sick, also, but we are glad to learn that they are recovering. Mr. R. has our heartfelt sympathy.

THE DANGER OF IMPURE WATER—

The dangers arising from the use of impure water have never been exaggerated. It has been said by a very eminent Physician that no one ever gets cholera unless he drinks it. The same thing may be said with almost equal truth in regard to Typhoid fever, Malaria and Zymotic diseases generally. Therefore you should be careful what you drink. Did you ever

DRINK SODA WATER, SELTZER WATER

Or other Mineral Waters, such as Carlsbader, Apollinaris, Etc.? Call for Market's; it is manufactured from pure water. No surface water used; and the soda is flavored from the pure juice of California fruit, therefore it contains the natural flavor of the fruit. For sale by H. N. Baird, Arcadia; and John Blem
